

The Challenges That Face the Project of At-Taqrib (Rapprochement)

By: Dr. Shaykh Muhammad Mahdi At-Taskhiri

Undoubtedly, it may be clear for all human beings that starting off advancing and then reaching the planned objectives in every change and transforming movement may face challenges which are commensurate with the size and greatness of the advancement of changing movement and its continuance.

It is true that the challenges we face, give us warning in advance of great danger, Showing the inability of the Islamic society to confront them. But the general position can lead us to bright pathways which can facilitate for us overcoming the real and illusive (imaginary) impediments which stand in the way of the success and victory. So the Islamic consciousness and awareness of the Ummah in the Islamic homeland, the growth of the rational and religious movement, and regaining the spirit of the Islamic civilization in the circles and spheres of our society, and feeling of most of the human beings of the interest in religion, morality, ethics, and spiritual affairs, after their sensing (of) the negative and bad consequences of going away from the human values, and feeling the necessity of unity and solidarity among the members of the Islamic Ummah at the different cultural, social, and economic standards.

Certainly all the mentioned challenges need study, consideration, and meditation in the content, and cooperation in setting out to stop or put an end to the intellectual and cultural attacks and offensives. They need to prevent, too, the contemporary crusade invasion and fill up the forged gap in the spheres of the Islamic society and coherently maintain the Islamic structure and building for the sake of the felicity, welfare and prosperity of the human being, while providing security and peace, and raising high the Word of Allah, the Merciful, and make it over everything else.
