Archaeological Sites of Northern Chenar Rud area of Chadegan in Zayandeh Rud Basin from Chalcolithic Age to Iron age III

Dr. H. Khatib ShahidiAssistant ProfessorUniversity of Tarbiat ModaresDr. M. TavoosiProfessorUniversity of Tarbiat ModaresDr. B. AyatollahzadehProfessorIranian Cultural Heritage OrganizationA. Salehi KakhkiPh.D CandidateUniversity of Tarbiat Modares*

Abstract

Most archaeological studies in Zayandeh Rud basin concentrate on the Islamic periods and despite the significant geographical situation, it has not received sufficient consideration during its early stages. In this article, the authors attempt to draw a general plan of the settlement periods concerning the northern Chenar Rud area (next to Chadegan city in the west of Zayandeh Rud) based on the archaeological remains analysis and a comparative survey of other regions such as Khuzistan, Fars and Kashan in Chalcolithic period to the end of Iron age III (550–500 B.C).

Key Words

Archaeology, Chenar Rud area, Chalcolithic age, Uruk, Proto Elamite, Bronze age, Iron age.
