

CONTINUING MEDICAL EDUCATION (CME): A BASIS FOR QUALITY IMPROVEMENT OF HEALTH SERVICES

Authors: Yousefy A; Rezaie A

According to the modern management, quality is defined from the view of customers. In health services, quality improvement requires appropriate measures to increase responsiveness and accountability of health system to increasing demands of the community. Regarding the ever-changing nature of health services protocols, there is no way but development and improvement of a CME system to make health service providers up to date. Different dimensions of health system quality and the key role of CME in quality improvement are discussed. Also, CME is introduced as an appropriate mean for quality improvement.

Key words: CME-Quality Improvement-Health services

Address: Yousefy Alireza; Department of Medical Education, EDC, Isfahan University of Medical Sciences and Health Services, Isfahan, Iran

Source: Iranian Journal of Medical Education ():

Archive of SID

آموزش مداوم جامعه پزشکی بستر ارتقای کیفیت خدمات بهداشتی - درمانی

علیرضا یوسفی - عباس رضایی

E-mail. aryousefy@Teacher.com

(TQM)

Edward

Deming

Myron Tribus .

»:

.()

.()«

»:

.()«

.()

.()

%

.()

.()

Gallup

%

.()

.()

Archive of SID

: « » .()

.()

()

%

%

%

%

()

References

- Dean JW, Ewans JR. Total quality management, organization and strategy. Cincinnati, OH: West Publishing Co.
- Tribus M. Developing quality system in education. London: Routledge.
- Parasarman A, Azeitham V, Berry LL, Servqual: A multiple item scale for measuring consumer perceptions of service quality. Journal of Retailing. ; ():
- Margolies J. When good service isn't good enough. The price Water House Review. ; ():
- Reichheld FF, Sasser WE. Zero defections : Quality comes to services. Harold Business Review. Sep-Oct :
- Goldstein IL. Training in organization brooks. California: Cole Publishing Co.
- Dean JW, Evans JR. Total quality management, organization and strategy. Cincinnati. OH: West Publishing Co.
- Rose JE. Total quality management text-cases and readings. 3rd Ed. New York: ST. Lucie Press.
- () ()