Objective : Praise be to Allah, the Lord of the Worlds; and blessings and peace be upon our Prophet Muhammad and upon all his Family. All Muslims are agreed that anything that causes drunkenness is forbidden. There is clear evidence for this rule from the Qur'an. Again, this rule is known by all Muslims. alcoholic drinks can cause testicular cancer. one reason for testicular cancer creation is abnormal uterine bleeding that is from affect of alcohol consumption and alcoholic drinks can reduce DNA methylation so those are a creator for testicular cancer.

Methods: We did a systematic review of 26 studies identified by searching PubMed, Ovide ,Elsevier and ProQuest.

Results: Of the potential risk factors considered, use of alcohol showed the strongest positive association. All studies were based on the role of alcoholic drinks in increment of female abnormal uterine bleeding and it can cause enhanced risk of testicular cancer; as well as analysis showed alcoholic drinks can reduce DNA methylation and and is clear that it is creators cancers.

Conclusion: our CONCLUSION were based on the role alcohol consumption and excess risk of it in creation of abnormal uterine bleeding nevertheless we had subsequent increase in risk of testicular cancer. this increase in risk is great enough to explain the dramatic increases in testicular cancer that have occurred in young adults and alcoholic drinks can reduce DNA methylation so those are a creator for testicular cancer. Finally One of the reasons of alcoholic drinks forbiddance in islam and Quran was discovered.
