

The 3rd International Gastrointestinal Cancer Congress

Nursing care in patients with pancreatic cancer

Reza shahabi<sup>1</sup>, Ahmad Mozaffari jovein<sup>2</sup>

1. Student Nursing. Department of Medical Sciences, Sabzevar Branch, Islamic Azad University, Sabzevar, Iran (Rezashahabf@gmail.com)

3. Assistant Professor. Department of Medical Sciences, Sabzevar Branch, Islamic Azad University, Sabzevar, Iran

Abstract

Introduction: Pancreatic cancer is the fourth leading cause of cancer-related vessel. Risk factors for pancreatic cancer include contact materials, high-fat diet with high meat and environmental toxins. Pancreatic cancer and chronic pancreatitis associated with diabetes mellitus and inheritance.

Methods: This study examines the various sites and resources related to nursing care after surgery for gastric cancer.

Results: Nursing care in these patients include educating patients and their families before and after surgery, the patient is pain relief and proper nutrition. As well as skin care and discomfort associated with jaundice, loss of appetite and weight loss in patients is very important.

Conclusion: With the support of enough of patients with pancreatic cancer can increase your lifespan. It is also important cohort studies performed on these patients to be able to solve the problems of planning.

Key words: Cancer, Pancreas, Nursing Care, Nursing